

Damien hails from Memphis, Tennessee. After high school, he joined the United States Army where he served as a Human Intelligence Collector/Korean linguist for ten years, serving in such places as California, Arizona, Korea, Hawaii, Afghanistan, and Iraq. After leaving the Army, Damien attended the University of Tennessee, where he earned a Bachelor of Arts in Global Studies, and a Masters in Sociology. He currently works as an Academic Adviser and Diversity Initiatives Specialist in the Lundquist College of Business. He also is the advisor of the UO Diverse Organization of Business Students, as well as appointed advisor Delta Alpha Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc. He currently serves as a board member for the Oregon Trails Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and is a past member of the Lane County Equity and Access Board. Recently, he won the All Campus Academic Advising Award, and the Black Student Union Mentor Award.

In his spare time, he likes to bake pound cakes and listen to soft rock, and is really trying to figure out why how he came to like kombucha.
